FERTILIZERS.

THE STAR AMMONIATED SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE.

The Best Fertilizer In the World.

We have concluded after mature deliberation to sell

THE STAR PHOSPHATE

in this season, for 400 pounds of middling Cotton, deliverable on or before November 1st, 1876, or for $47.50, payable on or before May 1st, 1876. We ask credit only for the difference in account of the low price of Cotton at this time. We do not expect to make much money on the Guano, but in consideration of past favors, we are willing to run the risk of making a small profit this season, besides it seems to be the universal opinion among farmers that the price of Guano ought to be governed by the price of cotton.

THE STAR

sustains its high and unadulterated standard. WE SELL NOTHING BUT FIRST-CLASS FERTILIZERS.

We are also agents for MAPES' NITROGENIZED SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME. This is comparatively a new Fertilizer to our Farmers, but Before calling at our store for a pamphlet with testimonials, Farmers will want to know what we are selling.

We refer to such men, who have used our Fertilizers, as

HILLSBORO MILITARY ACADEMY.

A Classical and Scientific School.

This school, having opened on the 17th of January, is now in successful operation. The present selection of good boys is company of boys, youth happy in their surroundings, happy in the advantages here presented, and happy in each others society.

Military in its discipline and drill, and equipped for instruction in science, it is one of the best, on that account, a CLASSICAL SCHOOL, possessing in this PROMINENT FEATURE, eminent advantages.

With Associate Instructors highly accomplished in their respective departments, skillful and zealous, the Principal is assured that no department of the School whether of Ancient or Modern languages, English studies or Science can suffer.

The endorsement of MR. HUGH MORSON, JR., by Professors Gildersleeve, Peschel & DeVere, of the University of Virginia, with the high appreciation which his scholarly attainments have commanded here, and the endorsement of Maj. D. H. Hamilton by Col. Simonton, of South Carolina, with the record he has made for himself as practically a scholar-edged by Col. Tew and others, are manifest guarantees of their ability and skill as instructors. With such co-operators, the Principal feels that he can prove the school to be all that a parent could desire or an enlightened public sentiment demands.

"David," said a little woman yesterday, "I've just come from Mrs. Small's, and she showed me the handsomest set of goblets, and so cheap—I'm bound to have some like them."

"Mary, look at my foot;" and Mr. Dumps held up and showed her a large hole in the bottom of his shoe.

"Poor old fellow," said Mrs. Dumps; "I declare it nearly kills me to think of your going in that fix—but you know, David, we are bound to have goblets; cousin John and his wife are coming this week, he says his mouth just waters for some of our good eating; but let it's magnificful to set our old cracked goblets on the table."

"How much do you want, Mary?" and Dumps sighed a sigh as much as to say he wished he was an angel.

"Only ninety-nine cents. Why it's the cheapest store in town; a man named Baker keeps it, where Mr. Brown had his variety store last year, and you can get anything you want for ninety-nine cents. Mrs. Small says they call it the ninety-nine cents store."

"Well, here's a dollar," said Dumps, "and be sure and bring me the one cent change. I want to buy a postal card and write your cousin John there's small pox here."

One of the best mechanics in the city, well known as a deserving man to all the citizens, with the proper help, would run a machine shop here and build engines for ten thousand dollars just as good as those turned out in Newark, New Jersey, and sold for from twelve to twenty thousand dollars. He owns already the site for building such a work shop immediately on the railroad.

A Pardon.

Shortly after the war in Orange county, a negro girl named Jennie, once the slave of Judge Brooks, went to Orange and married an old negro to whom she afterwards proved false and at the instance of her paramours put a rope around the old man's neck and her lovers helped choke him till he was dead. They were sentenced to be hung, and one of them, John Smith, was hung in Pittsboro. But [illegible] a critical situation, her sentence was commuted by Gov. Holden to imprisonment in the penitentiary for life, and one of the men was also saved from the gallows and sent to the penitentiary with her. This man is said to be partially idiotic, and yesterday Mr. Burke from Pittsboro was here in behalf of a pardon for the negro simply on the grounds of humanity. We hear also that Judge Brooks is anxious to get the woman, his former slave, pardoned, but Gov. Brogden stoutly refuses.

GOOD FERTILIZERS.

See the ad of J. W. Vick, by which it will be observed that the price of the "Star" Ammoniated Soluble Phosphate is reduced to $42 50 cash, per ton.

Mr. Vick has also on hand the well known Patapsco fertilizers which have gained a repute second to none offered to the planters. They have been fully tested for a number of years and the cotton planters, without exception, concur in a high estimate of it, and therefore "only to name is to praise."

LIVE MEN ADVERTISE THEIR BUSINESS.

In these times of brisk competition advertising is indespensable to the successful development of any enterprise. The News has attained a circulation that will guarantee a remunerative return for any investment in its advertising columns. THE WEEKLY NEWS is ahead where a strictly "farmer's trade" is desired.

HIGHWAYMAN LOOSE.

The Sheriff of Rutherford county writes Governor Brogden that John L. Burke, convicted of highway robbery, and sentenced to the penitentiary fifteen years, has just escaped jail. He asks the Governor to proclaim a reward.

OUR CHAPEL HILL CORRESPONDENCE.

CHAPEL HILL, Feb. 7, 1876.

Five months ago, a number of friends to the cause of education gathered together in our village, and with prayer and thanksgiving to God, opened to the people of North Carolina for the culture and training of their sons the doors of our State University. The occasion was characterized by a spirit of quiet and hopeful earnestness, a spirit which still seems to animate those who direct the institution. There has been a steady advance from the very beginning. The Faculty determined that the standard of scholarship should not be incompatible with the past reputation or future aspirations of the University. At the same time they were forced to admit applicants for a purely agricultural education, who would not have been able to enter the other courses. They thought that the instruction offered by the State should be as far as possible accessible to the farmers of the State. There have been 80 applicants for admission since September; there are now 67 students in the University. The numbers speak for themselves.

The standard of student aspirations, the ideal of student greatness, has been constantly changing for the better. The behavior of the students has always been creditable; and now they are showing among their number men of genuine moral pluck who frown down attempts at puerile or rowdyish tricks. The healthiest moral atmosphere is where young men are actuated by that esprit du corps, which is too manly to tolerate any exhibition of meanness or vice, whether in fun or earnest. Such a spirit is growing among our students, and is exhibited most strongly by those who come here to learn to think and study, and not merely to obtain diplomas, who have seen something of the struggle of life at home, and who now show an independence and sterling genuineness of character that our butterfly statesmen well might imitate.

The men who are to develop our State must be made of this material, and if there grows up in Chapel Hill a College that promotes energy, economy, restless seeking for truth and a determination to stand by the right for the right's sake, our State will assume a position in harmony with her great national wealth of soil, of climate, of forests, of minerals and of water power.

Seven or eight students have formed a

HISTORICAL CLUB.

The members select some topic, say Frederick the Great, and after a week or more of research and study, each contributes his essay containing such facts as he has gathered, and then follows a general discussion.

There is also a

which contains thirty members, and of which the object is to secure newspapers, periodicals and magazines for the dissemination of current news among the students. The club hopes to decorate its room with engravings and works of art.

The press of the State, both political and religious, would do a kindness, if they would send their papers to be placed upon the reading table. Good newspapers are great educators. The students are developing talents for business that are quite promising. It is the wonder of the town that students in maintain themselves at $7½, $8 and $9 per month, while the boarding-houses lose money at $12½. There is a brisk competition in the club business. Mrs. Tilley still leads with eighteen stagers, the original first class. She is determined to remain the Queen of the Club System. There is another club of seven members, and still another of eight. By next July we may expect to hear of clubs that board for $1½ per month, and furnish a $2 chromo to each member. There is no humbug in the food, the best beef at 8 cents, chickens at 20 and 25 cents, no hash, biscuits with lard, and butter without tallow.

The great question of

is destined to be solved at Chapel Hill. No place is healthier or pleasanter. The best board in the State can be had for $15, or visitors can form clubs and board for $7½!! Those who desire to form a club for next summer will address Mrs. Tilley; only twenty accommodated.

The preparations are making for the

on Thursday, June 1st. No declamations will be permitted on the stage. There is no graduating class this year, but there will be three original orations by members of each of the two literary societies. Each society selects six competitors, who write orations and hand them, signed with false names, to the faculty. The faculty then select the three best of each six to appear in public. This, together with the conferring of distinctions, and the bestowal of the Latin and chemistry prizes, is the only public exhibition on the part of the students.

The annual sermon will be preached by

of your city, and a distinguished Carolinian has been invited to deliver an address before the

which will take place during Commencement week, and which, it is hoped, will be largely attended.

Another son of whom North Carolina has long been proud, a successful farmer, has been invited to address the Agricultural College.

The Dialectic Society has requested one of our Congressmen to deliver the customary address before the Literary Societies. We hope he will not be entangled with Blaine about June 1st.

The marshals for commencement will appear without regalia. The ball-managers will probably be as sensible.

THE VILLAGE OF CHAPEL HILL

is rapidly regaining its old cheerfulness and liveliness. The merchants have quite generally painted and repaired their houses and stores. The has lately been repaired and will be plastered as soon as spring comes. Services are held at present in the dining-room of the hotel. Prof. Kimberly reads the service and Prof. Hooper the sermon. The Rev. Mr. Sutton comes over from Pittsboro occasionally. Every Sunday there is a charmingly read service and music as good as any the City of Oaks can boast.

The other churches have services morning or evening nearly every Sunday.

I will try to send you before very long, an account of the studies in the University and the methods of study and instruction, and you need not be astonished to hear something of this wonderful iron mine, one mile from the village, containing iron enough to supply all the railroad bars and wheels for Tom. Scott and the Raleigh & Gaston.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Down in Hyde County—Farmers Cutting Canals—Norfolk to Fairfield, &c.

FAIRFIELD, N. C., Feb. 3, 1876.

Editors Daily News:—Hyde county abounds in corn but low prices just now won't let the people be as lively as they would like to be.

The dredge has been cutting out the shoals in Fairfield canal, but where is the dredge now? Perhaps in the Virginia cut of the Albemarle and Chesapeake canal. I guess it will be back here again.

I wonder if a canal could not be cut from the head of Broad Creek to the head of Alligator River? There is plenty of water. Where is the money? Have the northern bondholders got it all?

There are two steam mills in the vicinity of Fairfield with grists attached. Just think of that.

We have one of the best male and female schools in the State, and a fine debating society.

The steamer Rotary is now making weekly trips from Norfolk to Fairfield. How is that?

Ten new lots have been laid off so as to enlarge the town of Fairfield and have all been purchased by different persons. Hurrah for us!

Christmas is gone and the young people are going to church. May Heaven be with them.

I wonder why the people here ship corn so soon. But I guess there is a great deal of shrinkage in corn.

A COON.

Cameron—How It Thrives—Tournament &c.

CAMERON, N. C. Feb. 8.

Editor Daily News:—Our little newly born village is fast getting out of its swaddling clothes and feeling its growth and strength. Its stores and pretty dwellings are thickly dotted where less than a year ago was the wild woods.

Our young people begin to feel already some of those impulses which are begot of leisure and success. They have arranged a tournament to come off on the 17th inst at which all the beauty and chivalry of the surrounding country will be present.

Two or three weeks ago there was a tournament held at Sanford. There is a considerable rivalry between Chatham and Moore and the contest at Cameron will decide the question.

The railroad is being pushed steadily westward, but its progress will not hurt our little town. It has that within and around it which insures its growth.

The News is getting into general circulation here and is a universal favorite. I hope to send you another club soon.

Yours.

Notice to Correspondents.

No letter can be published in these columns which is not authenticated by the name of its author. This we require, not for publication, but as a guarantee of the good faith of correspondents. Persons who violate this rule will have their communications consigned to the waste-basket.

THE WEEKLY NEWS is the cheapest paper published in North Carolina. It is only one dollar per year, postage paid, contains 32 columns of plain printed news from every section of the country, and important advertisements. Always Cash.

THE WEEKLY STORY TELLER.

N. L. Monroe & Co., publishers of the Family Story Paper, the Weekly Story Teller and the Boys, of New York, writes us that though their publishing house was recently destroyed by fire, the periodicals will appear at the usual time. This is energy.

THE NEW REGIME.

A new paper just started at Rutherfordton by Mr. J. P. Babington is on our table. We might be at a loss to determine its political character and would prefer something more outspoken than vague idealities. For these are times that admit no uncertain sounds. There is no middle ground between opposition to the policy of the existing administration, and adhesion to it. We want something that is either "flesh or fowl or good red herring."

THE National Republican gives us to understand that the game that won in Mississippi and Louisiana is to be played at the next election in South Carolina; that the army of the United States is to be used at the polls to protect the negro in his right to vote. The insolence of this threat is only equalled by its absurdity, for the negro in South Carolina, if the census tables are right, is vastly in the majority. It is the white man that wants protection. But that is a horse of another color. The white Southern man may never look for protection in his rights of suffrage from the administration.

THE repeal of the Bankrupt Law, accomplished so far as the House is concerned, takes the country by surprise as there had been no active demand for that step. Yet perhaps, the time had come for it, for the repeal is but an out growth of that antagonism between the debtor and the creditor class which breaks out in varied phase under the extraordinary condition of monetary affairs. The Bankrupt law is now construed to give undue power to the creditor whilst it puts the debtor at his mercy. The law itself was an ably drawn one, beneficent in many of its provisions, imperatively needed at the time of its enactment, and accomplishing a vast deal of good. Yet like other things, it seems to have outlived its usefulness and that its natural course was run.

SWEPSON & LITTLEFIELD.

Strange that our friends of the Petersburg Index and Appeal, living so near North Carolina, should have fallen into such an error as to count Swepson and Littlefield among those high in the favor of the Democratic-Conservative party. The latter was notoriously the mainspring of the Radical party while in the State, furnishing it with the sinews of war (which he stole from the State), and was the owner and conductor of the leading Republican journal of the State. Swepson's associations were mostly with the Radicals, though his connection with politics only extended to the furtherance of his own interests.

This carelessness of statement on the part of our contemporary is calculated abroad to injure the party in North Carolina whose welfare we know the Index and Appeal would not knowingly jeopardize. If there is anything more offensive to the sensibilities of the people of North Carolina it is the responsibility for those names, which always recall the days of shame of the State, and the impress of whose deeds is ineffaceably engraved upon its destiny.

Do not trifle with a Cough, Cold, or affection of the Throat, Lungs, or Bronchial Tubes. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a positive cure and prevents Consumption.

ORGANIZATION is needed in this State among the Democrats, not to heal any dissensions or reconcile any grievances in the party, but to compact the loose masses who act upon individual motion. The Republican party knows its strength exactly. It can count noses accurately. It knows how many men it can bring out, and it knows it can depend upon them. This is the secret of its power, and its confidence. The Democrats on the other hand do not know their strength, or at least they do not realize it. They know that the white majority is upwards of 25,000, and that all white, and that but a meagre white vote is attached to the other side. But the Democrats work loosely and disjointedly. They are cursed with independents, or paralyzed by presumptious personal ambition. They lay themselves open to the charge of disorganization, when disorganization is confined to personal discontent, or personal ambition. There is no disorganization, but there is a woful want of discipline, and the enforcement of this is the motive of the general call for organization. The Democrats can carry North Carolina. They must do it. But to do it, they must imitate the wisdom of their opponents. They must organize in every county, in every township. If they would succeed, they must exact strict obedience to party discipline. Every man who acts in defiance of that and sets up his own will as a rule for the party is an enemy to it, for he brings upon the State that burden what is so necessary for its welfare to throw off—the full restoration of the reign of radicalism.

RUBBING IT INTO THEM.

The white Reds in this State have had all the offices, whilst the darkies did all the work. The latter have never recognized the fact that they had masters as much as in the days of slavery; yet the cotton lord never more enjoyed his luxurious ease from the proceeds of his slave-labor than do the Radical office-holders from the work of colored voters. To one was given the fat kernel, while the other is pacified with the empty shells.

Perhaps they are learning something by experience. Perhaps Hyman will not be content with the empty honor of being in Congress, and the North Carolina representative on the Republican Executive Committee, without showing to his race that his position carries some powers with it. Perhaps he has satisfied his party that the negro vote is not so sure unless there is a disposition to share honors as well as work. At any rate, he has made a white route agent give way to a colored one, and Mr. Frank Haywood steps aside for Mr. Cornelius Waddell.

The white Republicans can make no complaint. This is putting in practice the most captivating of their theories, It is what the negro is taught. It is that by which he is won and secured.

Hyman may not stop here. He may demand a bigger victim than a route agent. There is O'Hara, a loyal lawyer of the right color, who would be glad to be made District Attorney. He is taught to believe he is qualified. He is told that he has good claims to it. He knows that his race absolutely controls the political character of the District. Will Hyman be satisfied with one little victory? At all events, the white Radicals begin to find that their teachings are not abstract theories, but may be made practical facts.

NORTH CAROLINA MANUFACTURES.

It appears somewhat inexplicable that, with the decided genius for mechanics and the high inventive faculty of North Carolinians, so little of it has been utilized at home. It is possible that the lower level at which mechanical employments were placed put a restraining power upon development, and either locked up the seeds of genius within the breast of the inventor or else compelled him to seek patronage and fortune elsewhere. But certain it is, there has been no lack of inventive genius in the State, either in the past or in the present. And this genius has manifested itself in branches foreign to the habits of the people. The famous Colt's pistol is a North Carolina invention. The Gatlin gun, now so famous in Europe as the mitrailleuse, is a North Carolina invention. The Edwards battery, patented during the war by a resident and native of Orange county, was a North Carolinia invention. We cannot and do not attempt to recall from memory the many useful implements applied to the arts of peace which have their origin in North Carolina brain. They will suggest themselves to our readers. One of the latest is a sewing machine, made in Shelby, Cleaveland county, which comes in competition with the famous machines of Howe, Singer and others.

The inventive skill being admitted to exist among us, proved by the active issue of patents from the patent office, the next question is shall it be employed at home? It is very clear that mechanical industry has risen in the scale of dignity, nor are men quite so fastidious as they once were how money is made, provided that it is made honestly. All labor is honorable. But labor needs the aid of capital, and it strikes us that capital cannot be so profitably, and judging from observation, more wisely, employed than in the engagement of mechanical skill and ingenuity as applied to manufactures. As a part of wisdom, investments at home have proved to be the safest. In other States they are beyond supervision and often the subject of casualties with which investors have no possible connection except through inevitable and uncontrollable losses. The monies sent abroad by our capitalists go to enrich other communities and often go to cripple or impoverish the investors. The same sums judiciously placed at home in the development of manufactures would have enriched them, and, likewise enriched the State Every factory bears the same relation to the State at large as a highly enriched lot does to a large farm. It is the nucleus from which all other improvement radiates. It is the guiding star of encouragement to others. It stimulates and it necessitates other enterprises. The manufacturer is crowned with success, whilst all other industries develope and prosper with his good fortune.

Manufactures become the sheet-anchor of Southern prosperity. It matters little how prosperous the farmer may be, if after the proceeds of crops come into his hands they go abroad to purchase those things that ought to be made at home, draining the country continuously of its money, or what is equally as fatal, sending the surplus abroad for investment because there is no employment for it at home. And this manufactures will give.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Alfred Martin, of Wilmington, N. C., has a portrait of George Washington, painted by the order of Lafayette, said to be an unusually good one.

The Constitution of Pennsylvania, adopted in 1776, had this laudable provision: "Whenever an office, through increase of fees or otherwise, becomes so profitable as to occasion many to apply for it, the profits ought to be lessened by the Legislature."

The talk in the Mississippi Legislature is still for the impeachment of Ames, but there seems to be some doubt whether his offenses constitute "high crimes and misdemeanors" within the meaning of the Constitution. The Lieutenant Governor, A. K. Davis, and Superintendent of Education, T. W. Cardozo, both colored, at present the subjects of committee investigations, are pretty certain to step down and out.

Bristow denies that he had words with Senator Conkling, but all the correspondents agree that he has had a falling out with the President and some of his Cabinet. Babcock, on his part, says he has been letting the Secretary severely alone pending his trial, but intimates that when he finishes with St. Louis—providing, of course—he will walk right into the gentleman from Kentucky who has made such a fuss over a trifle.

The piano and organ manufacturers of New York have formed an association for the protection of purchasers against the sale of worthless instruments. Many such instruments are made in New York of cheap and unreliable materials, are stencilled with names resembling those of celebrated makers, and are then sold, chiefly in country districts, as genuine productions of the principle manufacturers. — Phila. Ledger.

The time may not be very far distant when the disinterested Democrats of the State—those who have a high personal esteem for our old old leaders, but do not feel called upon to take a hand in all of their petty quarrels and ambitions—will call for a new deal, and conclude to bring forward a set of men who are free from the entangling alliances which mark the influence and efficiency of too many of our present chieftains.—Erie Observer.

The Norwich Bulletin says: In court yesterday one of the lawyers, in a burst of eloquence as dazzling as the interior of a tin shop, used the phrase sic itur ad astra. A consumptive looking man, with a woolen comforter about his neck, came up the desk shortly after and inquired what it meant. "Mean," said Mr. McGinness, "faith, it's Latin for up in a balloon." "Well," said the man with the comforter, confidentially, "I thought it was that, or higher'n a kite, or something of the sort."

An extraordinary scene, says the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian, happened in a bank at Liverpool recently. A well dressed man went to the counter and requested to be supplied with a bank effects, giving the name of one of the customers of the bank. The cheque was accordingly handed to him, and he forthwith filled it up for £125,000,000, and presented it to the teller, asking for gold for the amount. When remonstrated with he became extremely violent, so much so that it required the efforts of no less than ten persons to eject him from the premises. It was afterwards ascertained that he was at one time engaged in business in Liverpool, but has for several years been subject to fits of insanity, and that one of his favorite occupations when in that state is to write out cheques for large amounts.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5th, 1876.

Policies and preferences are evident enough to one who has the inside view here, but there is a visible reluctance of events to assume definite and tangible shape, at least such a shape as would justify its characterizations as a mirror of the situation.

OF DRAMATIC SITUATION.

This winter has not been fertile, though we have had occasional relief in the midst of the saturnalia of dullness in the form of episodes that will live in the records of Congress and in the memory of spectators, Before the holidays, Bayard and Morton, with Thurman as a massive background to the scene of parliamentary polemics, greatly relieved the mis en scene of dullness which at times settles upon the Senate like a November fog, Subsequently came the memorable gladiatorial encounter between Blaine and Hill, in which was the first shock of unshackled truth with the Great Lie, that for ten years has striven to make itself History. Parliamentary annals are rich in stories of gladiatorial prowess, but it is questionable whether the English parliament or the American Congress has ever witnessed a more intensely dramatic scene than that of the death-hug that the great Georgian that day gave to Blaine as the symbol of the dextrous system of falsehood on which Radicalism has kept itself enthroned, The ursine power of Hill met little resistance from the terrier-like structure that it crushed and mangled; the excitement came only of the palpable fact that a Presidential candidate was enduring a test that must make him hors du combat, and that the lies with which Radicalism has won ten years of consecutive victories, and with which it hoped to prepetuate itself, were at last fitly and finally answered, this was the outcome of Hill's speech. Nobody questions its "policy," now. Everybody sees the necessity that those approving it saw at the time of its utterance. Fifty thousand copies of a speech that gave the unanswerable "lie" to the "horrors of Andersonville," that gave to the world the contradiction of an ingeniously framed indictment of the humanity of nearly one half the American Union, for which hundreds of letters from men of all parties and in all sections have thanked its author, have already gone to the country from Democratic sources as the plea of the South and the Democracy in behalf of the manhood and self-respect of one-half the nation, and the brotherly love and perfect union of the whole. Even we often fail to mark its stages and see the necessity of new departures from the sluggish bays of thought already extinct by reason of the supplement of events to the causes that erected it. Ransom, Gordon, and Lamar, for years here have championed Liberalism and nationality. Wisely believing that hatred of the power that rules them makes a people timorous of that power, and hence jevasive and hypocritical, these typical gentleman have sought to reflect the sentiment of their people, one of honest love of the Government of their fathers, and equality to teach the North that the maintenance of the self-respect of the South was an indespensable feature in the scheme of genuine pacification. Hill's mission by accidental occurrence, was different, and probably no public man ever met a critical situation with more courage and address when Blaine supported his amendment with a speech, that Robbins of North Carolina characterized as an "infamous lie"—a speech that practically accomplished what Edmond Burke declared impossible, the "indictment of a people." Lamar was absent in Mississippi, Ransom and Gordon were in the Senate. Hill had been in the Confederate Senate, he had been Mr. Davis' friend; he was the representative of the old Union sentiment of the South; he obtained the floor, and in exhibiting the South as the perpetual friend of the Union; as the friend who would never cease to love the Union and its true friends of whatever political association; but who based its best claim to respect everywhere upon the fact that the South was entitled to a recognition such as is accorded to a people who illustrate the best christian virtue. His vindication of Mr. Davis was a necessary and an easy feature in Hill's plan: the South can escape no odium which shall be successfully visited upon Jefferson Davis; it already knows that it can go to History with no plea so sufficient for its ample defence that in its sorest trial it was headed by a man whom all Anglo-Saxon kinship proudly accepts as its own.

FOR AT LAST

WADDELL AND ROBBINS

came in later with tributes of national spirit and State pride, and reflected a distinction upon the people by the applause which they had, and which gave liberal utterance of the sympathies that North Carolina must claim when she asserts her title to high rank among the greatest of the agents of American glory. Robbins told a world of truth when he said that in North Carolina were the really decisive struggles of the Revolution. Such a truth always startles a Northern editor. Yet how susceptible of vindication is the revolutionary fame of North Carolina? What a rich mine inviting exploration? But who cares? Not the yankee! He tells you of Bunker Hill! but he never thinks of Cowpens. He tells you of Concord, but to him Moore's Creek is nothing. He is vastly proud of Monmouth where Carolina and Virginia troops (not to his knowledge, however), figured largely, but he does not dream of the significance of Guilford Court-House. Yorktown to the Northern mind was a phase of the fight; but when Burgoyne surrendered, it believes there was little more to be done; although Valley Forge came after Saratoga. A few weeks ago I was at the Capitol in Richmond, and spent hours in studying the faces of the miracles of men that have helped to make Virginia so illustrious among Commonwealths. But what of North Carolina? When will she begin to collect the faces of her illustrious children where the native and the stranger shall look upon them with something of the spirit of inquiry that makes us seek the story of a people in the faces of those whom they have selected as their worthiest representatives? Where are the portraits of Gaston, of Badger, of Mangum, of old Nathaniel Macon, of whom John Randolph had such an exalted opinion? I thought of these, and a hundred other eminent deceased Carolinians whose faces ought now to greet the visitor to the Capitol at Raleigh, when to-day at the studio of a North Carolina artist, Mr. Browne, I saw the portraits of Ransom and of Waddell.

BUT I DIGRESS.

In the beginning, that we were still without a definite crystallization of matters, still without a policy of either side so well outlined that it could be identified as the will of the majority. When we speak of party policy, of course nobody thinks of the utterances of Holman as promising at all what the Democracy either can do or will do; and about equal importance attaches to what Townsend, Fort, and other imbeciles shall say on the other side. Mr. Holman always reminds me of the old-fashioned Jackson Democrat, who, when asked what were his opinions upon the slavery question, said: "Yes, I am agin a Bank." Mr. Holman may be relied upon always at the wrong time and with the wrong measure to command the attention of the House, and before he shall have finished, to disgust the sensibilities of both sides. Holman, Townsend, Hale, Frye, and the rest, on both sides who have talked this week in the House are set to be charged with any responsibility for transactions hereafter. They are the "flies on the coach-wheel."

WITHOUT SPECIALLY INDIVIDUALISING MR. HOLMAN,

it is easy to see that he is an ugly type of the vicious element of the Democracy here that looks to one of two points, either reelection or promotion. Innumerable propositions have been offered in the house within a week, but nothing that can be construed as declaration of Democratic Policy. Mr. Randall, Mr. Kerr, Mr. Morrison and other Democratic leaders are freely quoted as hopeful of the outlook. A prominent Southern Senator is quoted as saying that he "Democracy could not contrive to beat themselves in November." We have made some good points in the matter of reduction of expenses, but we have seen some risks of impeachment upon the score of "small fry economy" in the same line. As a tout ensemble of Congressional advisement so far, the Democracy scores some advantages that are not inconsiderable. The country waits upon this Democracy; it has already showed its disgust with the Republicans.

IN THE PRESIDENTIAL PROBLEM

we shall find more reliable factors of the preferences that go to make up the sentiment that finally wins in waking the sentiment and the candidates of parties. In this respect the Democracy are beyond measure fortunate. With the Democracy the question is simply who can carry Ohio and Indiana in October? For there the fight will be decided. The South is expected to come to the National Convention without fear and prepared to vote for the candidate most likely to help the State tickets in Indiana and Ohio in October.

ON THE REPUBLICAN SIDE,

It would be difficult to state the complication. Blaine and Conkling are known enemies; indeed they have no personal relations, Morton and Conkling are rivals for Grant's favor, and unite only in hatred of Blaine. Bristow is believed to have been out of favor with Grant for some weeks past, and to-day we have rumors of an open quarrel likely to be confirmed. Grant is really the Mephistopheles of the Republican concern. He is plotting the ruin of all his opponents. But does he want himself, Conkling, or Washburne nominated? Our best hope now is in the enemy's dissensions. If Grant shall be nominated, can he use the army to carry Arkansas, North Carolina, Virginia Louisiana and Mississippi? Will he give the Government patronage to any other candidate of the Republicans? There are big factors in the problem.

F. H. A.

A CONTRAST WORTHY PUBLIC ATTENTION.—What is the effect of a drastic purgative upon the constipated bowels and a dyspeptic stomach? The intestines is emptied so violently as to weaken and render it still more inactive. And the gastric juices vitiated by contact with an indigestible medicine, lose the chemical qualities which constitute them the active solvents of the food. Result—aggravated constipation and catholic indigestion. What, on the other hand, are the effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters on the same organs? The bowels are moved, but without violence, and at the same time acquire healthful tone; the gastric secretions are stimulated and improved, and duly perform their part in the digestion which evenuate in the assimilation of every part of the human structure, thereby giving a regular, healthful action, sound vigor and vigor. Test the patent medicine by its own standards from this contrast.

THE WEEKLY SUN,

NEW YORK.

Eighteen hundred and seventy-six, Centennial year. It is also the year of the Democratic House of Representatives the first since the war, with power at Washington; and the twenty-third election of a President of the United States. All of these events are to be of great interest and importance, especially the two latter; and all of them and everything connected with them will be fully and freshly reported and ably discussed in

The Democratic House of Representatives, taking up the line of inquiry years ago by THE SUN, will steadily diligently investigate the corruptions and blunders of Grant's Administration, and will, it is to be hoped, lay the foundation for a new and better period in our national history. Of all this THE SUN will give complete and accurate accounts, fearlessly leading its readers with early and trustworthy information upon these absorbing topics.

The twenty third Presidential election, with the preparations for it will be memorable as deciding upon Grant's pretensions for a third term of power and plunder, and still more as deciding whether the second effort of the party of Reform, successful in electing that candidate, once more betrays these subjects, those who read THE SUN will keep the constant means of forming well informed judgments.

THE WEEKLY SUN, which has already a circulation of over eighty thousand copies, already has its readers in every State and Territory, and we trust that the year 1876 will see their numbers doubled. It will continue to be a thoroughly newspaper, containing the general news of the day with the essential facts of every important event in it, condensed when unimportant, and given at length when of moment; and always presented in the most clear, interesting and instructive manner.

It is our aim to make the WEEKLY SUN the best family newspaper in the world, and we shall continue to give in the columns a large amount of miscellaneous reading, such as stories, tales, poems, agricultural intelligence and agricultural information, for which we are not able to find room in our daily edition. The political department especially is one of the prominent features. The fashions are regularly reported in its columns, and also are the markets of every kind.

Terms for the WEEKLY SUN, eight pages with forty-six broad columns is only $1.20 a year, postage prepaid. A discount from this price barely pays the cost of the paper, no discount can be made from this rate to clubs, agents, postmasters, or anyone.

The DAILY SUN, a large four page newspaper of twenty-eight columns, gives the news for two cents a copy. Subscription, postage prepaid 55c. a month or $6.50 a year. Sunday edition extra, $1.20 a year. We have no traveling agents.

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

AGRICULTURAL.

From the American Farmer

Sheep vs. Dogs.

As our General Assembly is now in session, is not well for the farmers to urge upon them the passage of a law for the protection of sheep from the ravages of the hordes of miserable curs that now infest our State? I would suggest the following as a basis for petition: To register every dog before June 1st, 1876, with a Justice of the Peace of each district in the counties. To pay one dollar for every male, and two dollars for every female dog. Have a list of all registered dogs posted in every district. To put a leather or metallic collar on with its number corresponding with the register. All dogs without such collar a nuisance. Lawful for any person and made the duty of all police officers, constables, &c., to kill any dog not registered. Lawful to kill any dog worrying any sheep or other domestic animal, and the owner of such dog to pay such damages that have occurred from worrying or killing of sheep or other domestic animals. Fine any officer for neglecting to enforce the law ten dollars. All fines accruing from said fox, (after allowing to each Justice of the Peace for registering each dog ten cents, and to each officer for the collection of such tax and the killing of all unregistered dogs the sum of twenty cents each,) to be paid to the school fund of the countties. There is not a State in the Union better adapted to wool-growing than Maryland, but all are afraid to touch sheep, as there is no protection for them. Let the farmers rise in their might and flood our Legislature with petitions; they will certainly attend to us then. There is hardly a week but we see an account of sheep killed by dogs. There has been in the last month at least 100 to 150 killed and badly bitten in our county alone. If we cannot get legislation upon this matter what shall we do? I will tell you what I will do; kill every dog that puts his foot on my farm without his owner. I will protect my sheep if I have to make a few sheepskins by it. J. W. D.

Newmarket, Frederick Co., Md., Jan. 17th 1876.

From the American Farmer.

Manure-Making.

Manure is truly the back-bone of our farming: the manure heap "the farmer's saving bank." The accumulation and saving of all materials which will increase the size and the efficiency of that heap ought to be a duty never intermitted. The loss by allowing manure to lie exposed to sun and rain and wind, by permitting a stream insignificant in volume to wash away the best of its constituents, the careless farmer does not count. Yet careful tests showed that manure, its valuable constituents volatilized and borne off on every passing wind, is not worth one-fourth of that protected from the weather. To cover the barnyard would be in many cases impracticable, but the receptacle of the urine and dung can be so dashed that the liquor cannot run off; abundant absorbents can be used; the wash by surface water prevented, and the escape of ammonia lessened by the occasional use of the pile of plaster. To increase the quantity look to it that all the waste substances on the farm and in the garden are here utilized. Materials may be found in the fence-corners and head-lands, leaves from the woods, scrapings of roads, mud from the marsh, the ofal from the house; the chamber, slops and soap-suds; ashes from the kitchen, an occasional dead animal, and many other similar substances, too apt to go to waste and become nuisances instead of adding to the contents of the compost heaps. Well mixed with rich earth, alternating with occasional layers of stable-manure, and all wetted with such liquids as may be attainable, these wastes of supply would largely supplement the quota of manure furnished from the horse and cow stables, and make still more efficient the application of such mineral fertilizers as may be applied.

"Sorrows of a Dead Head."

Chester, the clever correspondent of the Index Appeal thus faithfully pictures the "Sorrows of a Dead Head:" "I would have the public know that the man who has free railroad and steamboat passes and yet can never leave home; that the man who has abundant free tickets to all the amusements he doesn't care to see and when Kellog and Booth come along has 24 legislators, councilmen, lawyers and politicians asking for each ticket he has; that the man who is the public property, has to stop on the streets and answer every question the idle and curious choose to ask; that the man who is liable to crying babies, to grammatical blunders, toothache, typographical errors and lapses of memory and has 25,000 people watching to catch him tripping—is a man of sorrow and acquainted with grief; poorly paid; poorly estimated; yet envied by many and despised perhaps by some of the great men he has made; the man who goes to a place of amusements and has the searching eyes of the public fixed upon him saying, "There Sits a Dead Head" that the man who when he goes to his friend's evening party is invariably approached by some stumpton who says 'Ha! taking notes are you? Ha! Ha!"

The Congressional proceedings are getting intolerably dull. Things will not go off briskly again until Sam Cox gets up in his seat and calls some Republican member a shock-headed, tin-eared, hump-backed, slab-sided, sharp-toothed, coal-mouthed, patent-leather-ribbed, bottle-nosed, blear-eyed, bandy-legged, lantern-jawed, log-eared, pigeon-toed, knee-jointed, knock-kneed, pug-nosed, cross-eyed, blue-bellied, splay-footed son of a saw-buck. Then Congressmen had better get down to their work, instead of squandering their time on committee reports.—Chicago Times Ind.

MEDICINAL.

BRONCHITIS CURED.

The above cut represents DR. JONES' SYSTEM of curing diseases of the Throat and Lungs directing the remedies to the seat of the disease in the form of medicated air Gives immediate relief, and effects a certain cure finally, in the most pleasant manner without taking drugs into the stomach.

DR. JONES, is now practicing at the McADOO HOUSE, Greensboro, N. C., where he will remain until the first of March 1876.

SYMPTONS OF SPECIFIC AND GENERAL CONSUMPTION AS IT PREVAILS IN AMERICA. (COPY-RIGHTED BY DR. JONES.)

1st Of the head—heavy, dull, aching over the eyes, sometimes extended back through different parts of the head, and causing a weight or heat, or coldness on top of the head, snapping and cracking noise in the ears daifness, or hearing often the secretion collects in the palate ear, closing up the eustachain tubes, producing deafness—the lining membrane being the same from the head through the whole alimentary canal and down to the lungs it has but to extend itself to affect the whole system. It becomes virulent in the nose sometimes, causing a tenderness, or producing offensive breath, discharges of yellowish matter and leehart the shape of the nostrils, or if the partition bone is only affected, then the lechars are flat and when they discharge, which is generally after exertion, the nose is open, the patient breathes more easily: and the head feels more clear—the heaviness over the eyes and across the forehead is seldom entirely gone, but is aggravated by every fresh cold. This offensive disease is called Ozena, which has now assumed a tertiary form of cancer, destroying everything but the outside skin, sometimes letting the nose sink in, extending to the throat, d stroying the voice and lungs, etc. when the disease is called Laryngitis, Trachetis, Bronchitis, etc. In some persons this disease commences in the throat with the following symptoms—in others it commences in the head or nose and extends to the throat and poisons the whole system, creating nearly every other disease.

A collection of tenacious or slimy secretion falling down into the throat thrown out—tickling, rasping, hoarseness and scraping to keep open the wind pipe; difficult breathing, oppression and soreness under the breast-bone; tenderness in the left side; rheumatic pains between the shoulders; stiff neck; taking cold; palpitation of the heart; torpid liver; sometimes yellow complexion; general dull heavy feeling; extreme shortness of breath; soreness of stomach-pit; bloated sensation; belching of wind; yawning, paing, keeping mouth open to breathe; distress, sleepless nights; worse when lying down, and it now it terminates either in consumption of the lungs, or follows the mucus membrane through the whole alimentary and urinal canal, causing dispepsia, costiveness, piles, inflamation of the bladder, trouble in the urinary organs, (and in women nearly the whole train of female diseases,) and gener l Consumption, emaciation, complete prostration, etc., with all of which, and many other symptoms, called by twenty different names, the suffer may exist a while.

Dr. Jones cures this Dangerous and Insidious Disease by the Arien system—using specific medicines known only to himself, applied to the diseased surfaces in the form of spray. He relieves the sufferer in a few minutes, and supplies the patient with all that is required to finish the cure at home.

EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT. Dr. Jones has made a specialty for fifteen years of the organs of sense. He is a graduate of the Homœpathic, Alœpathic and Eclectic Medical Colleges, and also of the New York Ophthalmic and Aural Hospital. His Diplomas from these same are suspended in his office, Room No. 2, McAdoo House, Greensboro, N. C., where he remains until the first of March.

OZOENA, AN OFFENSIVE DISEASE IN THE NOSE, which eats away the partition bone, destroys the sense of smell, produces green or yellowish ischars, the shape of the nostrils—sometimes flat often filled with blood and matter; causes weight and dull aching over the eyes, headache, loss of memory, giddiness, etc. This disease is often caused by neglected colds, by suppressed acute diseases, scarlet fever, measles fever, psoriasis, syphilis, and other contagious diseases and is itself contagious. It often extends to the throat, producing hoarseness, bronchitis and consumption. It is a tertiary form of cancer, destroying the nose and throat when too long neglected. Dr. Jones is the only physician in the United States who thoroughly understands curing this dangerous offensive disease. He destroys the offensive smell in five minutes, and relieves the sufferer in every way at once, and cures the disease in a short time. For this disease Dr. Jones has special instruments with valves to apply his specific remedies to the part. Nasal Douches and catarrh remedies generally drive this disease to the lungs more quickly.

CROSS-EYES MADE STRAIGHT IN A FEW MINUTES. (In all cases excepting quite elderly people and children.)

STAMMERING AND IMPEDIMENTS OF SPEECH cured in from one hour to a week. (excepting in illiterate persons and children.)

ARTIFICIAL EYES inserted without operation (and but little or no pain,) which move and appear as the original organ. DR. JONES has hundreds with him, and is prepared to suit any person who may have lost an eye.

FEES FOR TREATMENT and operations, &c., from $50 to $5,000—average from $80 to $300.

TERMS CASH.—His fees are considered low for the great amount of good he does.

It is impossible for a physician who has but the usual medical education to successfully treat the Eye, Ear and Throat, and to succeed in curing some more difficult diseases of long standing, and perform the se delicate operations which are frequently necessary about the Eye, Nose, Ear and Throat; therefore, Dr Jones has availed himself of all the advantages the world affords to fit himself for his natural and chosen profession and of his success the reader may judge by the following testimonials:

"Charles Dickens in his Study," which is offered, under special terms to every subscriber in advance—to JOURNALS for 1876.

NOON DISPATCHES.

Later From the New York Fire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Additional particulars of the fire last night show it was discovered on the floor of the 5th story of the building number ten, Crosby street occupied by Lesher Whitman & Co., importers of trimmings and fancy goods. The building extends through to Broadway on which thoroughfare it was numbered 444 446. The flames then extended to the adjoining six story building 448 and 450. About 7:30 o'clock the roof of 444 and 446 Broadway fell in with a loud crash and forced out the front and rear walls. Soon after the walls of 448 and 450 fell, the front walls which were of iron fell into Broadway and covered the pavement with debris. Huge masses of the iron front of the building were thrown to a considerable distance and encumbered the opposite side walk. With the fall of these walls, firemen gained their first advantage. The heat became less and firemen were enabled to approach closer to the ruins and renew the attack at close quarters. The result of the conflagration is as follows: Buildings No. 444, 446, 448, 450 and 452 Broadway extending through to Crosby street were completely destroyed with their valuable contents No. 440 442 454 456 Broadway were badly damaged and the rear of several buildings on Grand street partially destroyed. Lesher Whitman & Co., carried a stock of six hundred thousand dollars which was totally destroyed. Catlin Brundette & Co., dealers in cloths and manufacturers of clothing, 448 and 450 Broadway, valued their stock at five hundred thousand which was destroyed. Insurance. Lesher, Whitman & Co., $450,000; Catlin Brundette & Co., $400,000.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—In the Senate, Mr. Edmunds, of Vermont, introduced a resolution instructing the Committee on Public Buildings and Ground to enquire into the expediency of making provision for the speedy completion of the Washington monument in the city of Washington. Agreed to.

The Committee on the Texas Pacific Railroad heard Mills, of Texas, Wiggington, of California, Morey, of Louisiana Craunz, of Nebraska, on the conflicting interests connected with the Texas Pacific road. The sub-committee did not report the bill upon which they voted at the last meeting. The committee meets again this afternoon.

The Judiciary Committee is continuing its examination into the El Paso charter. Bowman, of Kentucky, and Defrees, formerly government printer, were before them. Defrees received one thousand dollars, but for what purpose has not clearly transpired, beyond that it was a legitimate transaction.

The business transacted by the House was unimportant. The report of the sub-committee is in favor of what is known as the Atkins' Texas Pacific bill. It is framed upon the suggestions of the St. Louis Convention.

Loss of a Vessel for Newbern.

Lord Derby in discussing the Queen's speech said, it would be impossible to go back on what England had demanded from China. He said the apprehensions regarding the Eastern question were probably not without foundation. If not promptly suppressed it would open the whole Eastern question and infallibly result in a religious war between the Christians and Musselmen.

THE LAWYER'S TRADE.—A day or two ago, when a young man entered a Detroit lawyer's office to study law, says the Free Press, the practitioner sat down beside him and said:

"Now, see here, I have no time to fool away and if you don't pan out well I won't keep you here thirty days. Do you want to make a good lawyer?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, now, listen. Be polite to old people, because they have cash. Be good to the boys, because they are growing up to a cash basis. Work in with reporters and get puffs. Go to church for the sake of example. Don't fool any time away on poetry, and don't even look at a girl until you can plead a case. If you can follow these instructions you will succeed. If you cannot, go and learn to be a doctor and kill your best friends."

An act of the Virginia Legislature has been approved incorporating the Virginia and North Carolina Rail Road Company for the construction of a railroad from the Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio railroad, at or near Max Meadows, to some point on the North Carolina line east of the mouth of Wilson creek, in Grayson county.

In addition to the above losses several persons suffered who are not able to estimate their damage. But 2 firemen David Maldew and David Clute were killed; both leave families.

No direct evidence was brought out against Gen. Babcock, testimony being general in its character tending to show who were in the conspiracy and its extent. Jas M. Fitzroy was put on the stand at the opening of the morning session and kept there an hour and a half. Fitzroy was Deputy Collector of the Internal Revenue, and after the departure of Conduce McGrue in Nov. '72; became the active business man of the ring. Serlentoff foreman of Ulrice's distillery was also examined.

"What kind of a man is 'Squire Simmons, any way?" "Well, you've seen those snow storms along early in winter, when there's a good deal of wind and not much sleighing? That's the sort he is."

Mr. James Lawrey, ex-Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, died last Tuesday in Burlington, N. J., aged 73 years. He was graduated from Yale College in 1824.

There are said to have been from sixty to seventy sleighs at one time in the neighborhood of the Govanstown Hotel on Saturday night. Some of the boys kept it up till late in the morning.—Baltimore Sun.

Reduction in the price of gas seems to be the order of the day, the latest instance being that of the Augusta (Georgia) Gaslight Company, which has voluntarily reduced the price of gas from $5 to $4 per thousand feet.—Baltimore Sun.

We saw yesterday a set of chessmen neatly molded in lead from bullets picked up on the battle-field near Appomattox Court House. The bullets were collected by Judge H. T. May he live to marry a hundred more of the family and all make as good husbands as Dr. Wilder.—Raleigh Sentinel.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Lost a lung. Fayetteville Wide Awake: We learn that a Mr. Patterson of Swann's Station, fell from a wagon on Monday of last week, and sustained serious injury. The mules attached to the wagon ran away and the wagon coming uncoupled Mr. Patterson and the body fell to the ground, and the body striking Mr. P. on the breast mashed it in, destroying his right lung. His recovery is doubtful.

Property in Goldsboro. Messenger: The piece of unimproved ground opposite the Messenger Office, just back of the store of Gregory, Galloway & Co., fronting on Walnut street 43 feet by 80 feet deep, was sold at public sale on Saturday last for the handsome sum of $1,053 00, Messrs. J. W. & W. Crawford and B. M. Privett being the purchasers. This augurs well for the property owners of Goldsboro.

A child cried. Wilmington Star: An attempt to burglarize the residence of Mr. G. F. Tilley, on Third, between Walnut and Red Cross streets, between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday morning, was happily frustrated by the awaking of a child, who was probably aroused from its slumbers by the noise. Upon becoming thoroughly awake one of the inmates of the room in which the family were sleeping, detecting a draft, proceeded to the front window and raised the curtains, when it was found that the blinds had been forced open, the sash raised and a stick placed under it.

Caught at last. Fayetteville Wide Awake: About 2 years ago, two negroes were burned in a shanty at Jonesboro, and the supposition was that they were murdered and their bodies burned to prevent suspicions, as their skulls were broken when found. The colored people since that time have been on the alert for any clue, and some evidence being against one James Griffin,—who about the time the deed was committed left this county and never returned until a few weeks ago—he was arrested and placed in limbo at Jonesboro on yesterday. He protests his innocence and states that he can prove an alibi.

Old papers. Newbern Times: Mr. S. M Swan of Goldsboro, the enterprising trucker and railroad man, has framed and carefully preserved original numbers of some of the ancient newspapers in the United States. In fine preservation is a copy of the Newport Mercury or Weekly Advertiser issued Tuesday, December 19th, 1758, at Newport, R. I. This is one of the first numbers, and the paper has had an uninterrupted existence, being now published, and is the oldest paper in the United States. He has copies also of the Boston Morning Post, published in 1783, and of the Boston Gazette published in 1770. These papers are worthy of a place in the Philadelphia Centennial being, we opine, a little older than any similar property in North Carolina.

HOME FERTILIZER.

FARMERS MANIPULATE YOUR OWN

FERTILIZER AT HOME AND

SAVE FROM FIFTY TO

TWO HUNDRED

PER CENT.

In order to make your lands productive, it seems almost a necessity that you must use manure of some kind. The question of greatest and decidedly the most important interest to all, is, what kind will give the largest returns for the amount of money invested? A ton of will cost you on your farm, ready for use, from $14 to $16 per ton, the price varying according to your locality. The average cost of the best manipulated Guanos and Phosphates will be, or is, from $45 to $50 per ton with freight added, on your farm.

Orders for the material to make the "HOME FERTILIZER" taken at Gorman's Drug Store, opposite the Market House.

Send in your orders as early as possible.
